

DR. R.P. TIWARI

Renowned Agricultural Scientist & Mushroom Cultivation Expert
FORMER DIRECTOR, ICAR - DIRECTORATE OF MUSHROOM RESEARCH (DMR), SOLAN

It gives me immense pleasure and pride to write this letter of commendation for WellRoot Trading, an organization that I have had the privilege of guiding, mentoring, and advising for over fifteen years. Throughout our long-standing professional association, I have witnessed your unwavering dedication on maintaining scientific rigorous quality control, and exceptional working standards.

Having dedicated my career to developing commercial cultivation technologies for mushroom farming in India, it is deeply rewarding to see a team implement those methodologies so seamlessly. However, WellRoot's latest micro-entrepreneurship business model is what truly marks a transformative milestone in spreading fresh mushroom food culture into neighborhood stores, local caterers, and residential pockets directly improving community wellness.

This visionary strategy empowers everyday individuals, especially homemakers, women looking for financial independence, and elderly individuals, to launch a viable doorstep business from the comfort of their homes with minimal upfront investment. This model effectively guarantees a steady, low-risk daily income stream without the stress of crop failures.

I highly endorse your innovative business ecosystem. It is not merely supplying an excellent system but they are building a sustainable, stress-free micro-franchise network that fosters economic empowerment. I wish the team and all their prospective distribution partners the absolute best in this profitable endeavor.

Sincerely,
Dr. R.P. Tiwari

Mushroom Cultivation Consultant & Former Director
ICAR - Directorate of Mushroom Research (DMR), Solan
Bengaluru, India
Scientific Advisory